26th ICPR (Virtual Conference) - Taichung, Taiwan
Intelligent and Transformative Production in Pandemic Times
Celebrating the 60th anniversary of the International Journal of Production Research

While experiencing the impact of the acute pandemic on our lives and the economy we still have to keep our faith towards the future of production, because modern human life relies on production with its supply networks in any kind of format. Looking at the future of production calls for transformative research exploiting the possibilities artificial intelligence offers, particularly for challenges at all levels of the economy such as sustainable development.

The ICPR is regarded worldwide as one of the leading conferences promoting research in the field of production research and industrial engineering and related domains. We invite you to contribute your research to this long-standing conference and virtually interact with peers to address the challenges for production, supply networks and interfaces with other domains.

We invite you to submit Abstracts

Submissions Continue - Deadline February 28, 2021

Abstracts are submitted online within one of the conference tracks and topics. To view a complete list and instructions on submitting your abstract, visit the conference website at icpr26.thu.edu.tw

Additional opportunities to participate!

Pre-Conference Workshops (July 14-18, 2021)

Early Career Researchers and Doctoral Training Programme - want to boost your career in research? These workshops not only offer sessions to improve your skills for academic research, you also are able to tap into a network of colleagues. For further information, please contact Dr. Rob Dekkers, Rob.Dekkers@glasgow.ac.uk

The conference will also hold various events, e.g.,

- Virtual Editors Forum (IJPE, IJPR, JMTM, IJIOME and more to follow)
- IFPR Women in Production Research Forum
- 1st Bi-Annual Lillian Gilbreth Inspirational Lecture

Publications

You will have opportunities to be invited to publish your extended papers in the special issues of IJPR, IJPR, IMDS, IEMS, JIPE, and MEQ.
